MENOMONIE, Wis. (AP) -- Students at the University of Wisconsin-Stout have voted to ban smoking anywhere on campus.

Stout Student Association President Michael Lubke says students were concerned about "walking through clouds of smoke and having cigarette butts littered around campus."

The campus currently prohibits smoking within 25 feet of any building entrance or exit.

The unofficial results of electronic voting Wednesday are 1,176 in favor of the ban and 718 opposed.

The advisory results will be forwarded to Chancellor Charles Sorensen for his decision.
